VOLUME FIFTY-ONE

PLACERVILLE, EL DORADO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 7, 1941

NUMBER 157

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Organized labor, with the aid of an army of professional petition soothsayers, is making a desperate, last-ditch stand to delay enforcement of the bill enacted by the State Legislature banning the use of secondary boycotts, or the "hot cargo" designation, in labor disputes.

The referendum petitions have been in circulation for several weeks and thousands of dollars are being spent from union treasuries in an attempt to get sufficient voter-signatures to force the issue to a vote of the people at next year's general election.

Whether the referendum effort is successful will depend, to large extent, on whether California voters are sufficiently fed up with labor excesses and needless strike tie-ups to be on the alert and investigate the petitions they are asked to sign.

Farmers, whose very existence is threatened by continued use of the vicious secondary boycott, should be particularly careful in inquiring into the merits of any referendum or initiative petition they are asked to sign at this time. More than that, they should do everything possible to warn their neighbors against signing such petitions.

If operation of the act, prohibiting secondary boycotts, would not be held up pending the election, it might be just as well to let the issue go to the people, for there is no question in this writer's mind that the people of California would back up the action of the legislature and vote approval of the anti-"hot cargo" act by an overwhelming majority. But if the referendum petitions are allowed to qualify, enforcement of the new law will be delayed for more than a year — and during that time, despite the country's need for stepped-up production in the cause of national defense, labor will doubtless consider that it has a license to employ the secondary boycott against agriculture, business and national defense industries.

There can be no slightest justification, either morally or economically, even in normal times, for use of the secondary boycott weapon. It is labor racketeering at its worst, for it permits unscrupulous labor bosses to tie up the crops of farmers who have no labor difficulties and no dispute with their employees; it permits them to declare such crops "hot cargo" and let them rot on the docks, or in the warehouses, despite the fact that the producer is not a party to the controversy at issue and may be ruined by the loss of his entire year's income. But in a period of national emergency, with the country's security dependent on its ability to produce, the attempt of labor leaders to regain the right to use this outlaw-weapon amounts to sabotage of the national defense program.

Cool heads in labor's councils prevailed when the legislature adjourned and it was announced that no attempt would be made to invoke the referendum against the bill banning the secondary boycott. Many labor leaders stated, off the record, that they were convinced the public was against the practice — and that labor would take a drubbing if the question was forced to a vote of the people. After a few weeks, however, the hot-heads were able to high-pressure the AFL executive committee into reversing itself and taking a position in favor of a referendum campaign. More than $50,000 has been made available for the petition drive from the union funds, it is reported, and professional solicitors are at work in all centers of population.

It is now time for the average Californian, who is the victim of labor's excesses, to speak his mind — and serve notice that the days of high-handed labor racketeering in California are over. The quickest, surest, most economical way to defeat that ultimatum is to defeat the petition drive now in progress. But if labor is able to qualify the petitions, then California should do the job at the polls — and do it by such a smashing majority that the "hot cargo" practice will be kicked into discard for all time.

Mrs. Elrena Wakefield and daughter, Miss Genevieve Wakefield, are here from Oakland vacationing with the former's sister, Meta Tucker. Miss Genevieve is a teacher in the San Leandro public schools.

U.S., BRITAIN AGAIN WARN JAPANESE

Thailand Given Pledge Of British Troops, American Supplies In Resistance

WASHINGTON, (U)—The United States and Great Britain have pledged war supplies to Thailand with which to resist Japanese aggression, informed quarters said today.

The pledge served to emphasize their new warnings to Japan.

In parallel representations to the Thailand government, the United States and Britain urged it to take a firm stand against Japanese demands for military bases, it was said.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Secretary of State Cordell Hull warned Japan yesterday that any move infringing the independence of Thailand would place a grave strain on Japan's relations with them.

(An official spokesman in Tokyo rejected these warnings as "unwarranted and created from their own conjectures." He said Japan's relations with Thailand had been peaceful and "Thailand is willing to continue such relations.")

While American aid would be limited to war supplies, it was understood that the British had promised full military support, including troops. A Japanese thrust into Thailand would threaten British Burma and the naval base at Singapore.

The administration studied plans for the evacuation of more than 600 Americans stranded in Tokyo. A suggestion is understood to be under consideration whereby Japan would agree to clear two U. S. vessels bearing refugees in return for clearance from ports here of Japanese vessels on similar missions.

The American President, Mr. Roosevelt, said today that he was using since it is now in the Far East and could make the stop in Japan. The Japanese may be given authority to use the Nitta Maru and Helan (Continued on Page Three)

Army Recruiter Scores Justice

Colonel Declares That Judge Would Fill Armed Forces With Burglars

LOS ANGELES, (U)—Col. John A. Robinson, district army recruiting officer, today assailed Justice of the Peace William E. Fox of Pasadena, Calif., for suspending a young thief's sentence on condition he join the Army.

"Not only does the judiciary department depend upon the Army, Navy and Marine Corps to enforce the laws that it interprets, but the very existence of the nation depends upon its fighting force and you wish to fill it with burglars," he wrote in an open letter to Fox.

Colonel Robinson ordered the recruiting service to reject Arthur L. Buntrock, Jr., 22 Pasadena, the man whose sentence Fox suspended. Fox Saturday sentenced Buntrock to 180 days in the county jail for stealing $72 from the cash register of a restaurant where he worked, then suspended sentence for two years after he promised to enlist.

Fox replied that he believed Buntrock was a "nice boy" who needed only the "discipline and help" of the Army, to straighten him out.

Family Reunion Sunday At Home Of Mrs. Chas. Marsh

The home of Mrs. Charles Marsh was the scene of a family reunion on Sunday, the occasion remembering especially the birthday anniversaries of Lorenz Roberts and Catherine Marsh, of Fresno.

Others present from a distance included Doris Marsh and Mr. and Mrs. Millard Hassler, from Chico; Private Kenneth Smith, of Camp Roberts, and his wife, Leona; Mrs. Hazel Smith and friend, William Thomas, of Sacramento; and Stanley Millar, Sr., of San Francisco.

Miss Doris Marsh accompanied her sisters on their return to Fresno.

Mrs. Fern Pilliken was a caller Thursday from Phillips Station and reports a brisk shower there Thursday morning.

Church To Erect Its Own Building

The Full Gospel Church of Placerville has started work on a new church building which, the congregation hopes, may be ready for occupancy in the early fall.

The structure, for which excavation is nearing completion, is being erected on a Sacramento Street lot, purchased from Frank Richards, which was formerly the site of the Bliss family home. It is a large lot, ample for two buildings. The Sunday School will meet in the basement of the structure and the main floor will include the church auditorium, pastor's study and other rooms essential to church use.

COMPANY D MESS FUND GETS CONTRIBUTION OF $35.45

The mess fund of Company D, 115th Engineers, which is El Dorado County's unit in the 40th Division of the Army at San Luis Obispo, will be swelled by a contribution of $35.45 as a result of a project recently completed by ladies of Gold Hill and vicinity.

Mrs. Oscar Fleming and Mrs. Alvin Marchini made some pillow cases. Placerville printing offices prepared some printed invitations to participate in the awarding of the pillow cases, and these were distributed by Mrs. Alvin Marchini, Mrs. Andrew Marchini, Mrs. Milo Bartimovich, Miss Annette Hill, Mrs. Flossie Francis and Mrs. Robert Sheldon.

In the absence of any other public place to determine to whom the pillow cases would be awarded, the event took place at the meeting of the Placerville Lions on August 5, and it was determined that the pillow cases would be awarded to Mrs. Ruth McGriff, of Placerville.

The committee in charge expresses thanks generally to all who assisted in the activity and the boys of Company D will doubtless welcome the very substantial contribution to their company fund.

RUMORS OF RENDEZVOUS AT SEA PERSIST AT CAPITAL

Washington Hears Roosevelt And Churchill Have Wanted Talk For Some Time, And Notes Present Absence Of Leading Military Men

WASHINGTON, (U)—A Navy dispatch from the Presidential Yacht Potomac said today that the Presidential party was continuing its cruise toward an unannounced destination and that Mr. Roosevelt was being kept advised on the international situation by radio.

Rumors that the President and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain had met or were about to meet were kept alive by two new bits of information, neither of which was conclusive.

One was the fact that the President's highest military and naval advisers are absent from the capital. The other was a statement by a well placed official that he knew that the President and the Prime Minister had desired for some months to have a face to face conference.

The highest governmental officials often leave the capital for vacations or official trips when the President is out of the city, when there is no possibility that they will be needed for conferences at the White House.

The official who disclosed the desire of Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill to talk personally about the problems of Anglo-American collaboration against the Axis, said he had no actual knowledge as to whether the conference had taken place or was about to be held.

Officials here and in London have neither confirmed nor denied reports that the meeting was about to be held or had been held.

DAVID JUSTER ENLISTS IN NAVY, RECRUITING SERVICE REPORTS

David Juster, of El Dorado County, is one of twenty-six central California youths accepted during July as recruits to the Navy, it was announced at the Sacramento district recruiting office of the Navy this week.

At the same time it was announced that Arthur R. Hill, of the Navy recruiting staff, will be in Placerville on Tuesday, August 12, and will meet young men interested in discussing Navy enlistment at Room One in the basement of the postoffice from noon until three o'clock.

Mr. Hill reports there are many vacancies in the Navy and in the naval reserve. The age limit is 17 to 31 years for the Navy and 17 to 50 in the reserve, and men who are skilled in a trade may enlist in the rating for which they are qualified.

The opportunity to apply for training in one of more than fifty different trades is open to Navy recruits.

DEFENSE ORDER IS ANNOUNCED

Trespass Is Forbidden On Virtually Every Dam Or Canal In County

National defense regulations came home to El Dorado County during the week when Regional Forester S. B. Shaw issued a proclamation at San Francisco which forbids unauthorized trespass upon lands within the vicinity of dams, canals, forebays, siphons, transmission lines and other locations whose continuing and uninterrupted operation is deemed essential to the public welfare.

The proclamation became effective on August 4th and the closing order is now in full operation and effect.

The exact extent of the proclamation as it relates to Eldorado National Forest and vicinity is being prepared in press release form at the forest headquarters upon information taken from a copy of the regional forester's proclamation.

The order is aimed at the prevention of malicious mischief or other acts inimical to the public welfare in the light of national defense activities.

It forbids trespass within areas of from two hundred feet up to within four hundred feet of various types of installations and closes the tops of dams to trespass, except under permit or when a road crosses the dam.

In a preliminary review of the proclamation, it was noted that trespass upon the El Dorado forebay of the P. G. & E. Company is forbidden. This closes the area to fishermen.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith said that the areas upon which trespass is forbidden will be posted against trespass as soon as possible and that a detailed description of the locations on or near Eldorado Forest included in the proclamation is being prepared for general publication.

JOSEPH SHEPHERD, GREENWOOD NATIVE, DIED FRIDAY AT RESIDENCE

Funeral services were held Monday at Roseville for Joseph Shepherd, 84, native of Greenwood. The rites were conducted from the Lambert mortuary. Interment was at the family plot in the I.O.O.F. cemetery.

Mr. Shepherd was found dead Friday morning at his residence at Cool. He was the father of Rudolph Shepherd of Garden Valley, Albert Shepherd and Mrs. Charles Davis, of Roseville.

The deceased was a lifelong resident of El Dorado County and in active life engaged in mining and ranching.

The family circumstances associated with his passing are particularly sad. About two months ago a brother passed away, and just last week a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Gorman, died at Roseville.

A surviving brother, David, is reported seriously ill at his home in Greenwood.

The late Mr. Joseph Shepherd was sought by friends Friday morning when he failed to put in an appearance as had been his habit and the investigation resulted in the discovery that he had passed away during the night.

Carl Tidd was a caller Friday from the Springvale section.

Supervisor Cyril Heuser was a visitor Thursday from Shingle.

George Volz was in Amador County on Thursday.

William Stearns was among the callers in the county seat Thursday from Coloma.

JAP ATTACK ON SIBERIA SEEN IN FAR EAST

Mussolini's Son Killed In Crash Of New Type Of Italian Bomber

By UNITED PRESS

Germany and Russia exchanged blows on the eastern front today with little indication of substantial change in the fighting lines and in the far east tension over Thailand and a possible Japanese attack on Siberia mounted.

In Italy, Capt. Bruno Mussolini, son of Il Duce, was killed in the crash of a new type of airplane near Pisa.

Nazi reports of the Russian war still were under the influence of the galaxy of high command communiques reporting the progress of operations in the seven weeks of fighting to date. Another in the special series was expected today, dealing exclusively with the great battle of Smolensk which Berlin claims has been ended with a Nazi triumph.

There was little more news from the Russian side. The morning communique from Moscow said the heaviest fighting of the night was reported in the Smolensk, Belaya Tserkov and Estonian fronts. Action on the Finnish front was indicated for the first time in many days with a report of battles around Kakisala, 70 miles north of Leningrad on Lake Ladoga.

The Russians reported heavy losses had been inflicted on the 112th and 59th German tank regiments and that a Soviet submarine had entered a German harbor and torpedoed a Nazi transport.

London military reports said that the Germans appear to be making no progress at the moment on the Smolensk front but that they continue to advance toward Kiev from the Belaya Tserkov direction.

In the far east there were mounting indications of impending Japanese moves both in Thailand and against Siberia. Shanghai reported rumors that Japan has demanded (Continued on Page Three)

Wage Regulation Is Opposed

Price Administrator Sees Need For Co-Operation To Avert Inflation Threat

WASHINGTON, (U)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today declared that wages "must be kept within bounds" to prevent inflation.

He told the house banking committee, however, that he did not believe provisions for wage regulation should be included in the administration price control bill.

"It is not necessary to include a price control bill all the elements that enter into cost, such as interest, transportation and wage payments," he said. "But unless they are kept within bounds it will be impossible to prevent price inflation."

Henderson said he favored "the closest kind of contact" between governmental agencies concerned with labor and price regulation in order to "bring about the proper balance."

"No group in the country ought to take advantage of the special situation arising out of heavy governmental purchasing to get unwarranted or indecent raises in the charges it makes to the community," he said.

Robin Godine, rich society girl, falls in love with Cary Craig, who is paying his way through medical school by working for an escort bureau. She hires him to go about with her. He secretly loves her but, because of her wealth, hides his feelings. Her father, John Godine, determined to break up their association, maneuvers to get Cary out of the escort bureau by indirectly financing his medical training. However, Cary finally overcomes his scruples about Robin's wealth and they become engaged. But they will not marry until Cary is established as a doctor. Godine, hearing this, withdraws the money he put up, having no wish to help Cary in his goal. Cary's foster father, Jed Prosser, a beer-parlor proprietor who has been in the days, goes to see Robin and tells her that he once loved her mother, now dead, before John Godine won her away from him, years ago.

CHAPTER XXIV

JED firmly refused to accept Robin's locket, but they talked on about the past. Robin asking questions and Jed answering them—though some of them evasively. He was careful not to tell her too much.

"Tell me," she said, "if the invention was yours, how did it happen that my father made all the money out of it?"

"Oh, that was all right," Jed assured her. "You see, he bought it from me and it was his money that put it across."

"But it was your idea," Robin declared.

"Yes—but it would have been like millions of other inventions—buried and unknown—if it hadn't been for your father."

"Just the same, I think you should have had part of the money," Robin insisted.

"I got my share long ago, when your father bought the patent from me," Jed told her.

"Well, anyway, I'm going to tell Daddy that I've found you, and I'll bet he'll want to do something about it. I know he'll want to see you, anyway."

"No, no!" Jed cried in alarm. "You mustn't say anything to your father! As a matter of fact, he found me himself—some time ago."

"He did!" exclaimed Robin. "I wonder why he didn't tell me about you! Does he know you're Cary's foster father?"

"Yes—he knows," Jed said slowly. "But you see, your father and I—well, on account of your mother, relations between us became kind of strained, and I suppose that's the reason he's never mentioned to you that he used to know me."

"Maybe," said Robin doubtfully. "But it seems strange that he wouldn't have said something about it when I told him about Cary and me."

"She was thoughtful a moment, then shrugged."

"Tell me," she said, with a smile, "what do you think about our engagement? You said over the phone that you knew about it. I suppose Cary went straight and told you?"

"Er—yes," Jed lied.

"I hope you're pleased," Robin said eagerly. "I hope you think I make him a good wife."

"I think it's fine!" Jed assured her, beaming. "Uh—that's the reason I've come to see you."

"I'm so glad!" Robin exclaimed. "I was afraid you might disapprove—might think I was too wild and foolish for Cary."

"The idea!" protested Jed. "Well, you know, I have been pretty wild at times. Robin pointed out, 'Cary at first thought I was awful.' She sighed. 'I read a story once where a man said, 'Your demons drive you.' I guess I have demons."

"No," said Jed. "You're just impulsive that's all. And I like impulsive people."

Robin smiled. "You're sweet to say that. But I know my faults. I've been a very spoiled, foolish girl. But," she added earnestly, "I'm going to reform for Cary's sake."

"You don't need to reform," Jed told her. "You just stay as you are."

They were both silent for a moment.

Then Jed asked, "When do you and Cary aim to be married?"

"I'd marry him tomorrow," Robin answered. "But he says we'll have to wait a few years—until he is able to support me. He's awfully proud, you know."

"I know," Jed agreed. "It's too bad though, when two young people are in love and have to wait so long to get married. I wish there was something I could do to help."

"Oh, but you are helping! I think it's wonderful of you to finance Cary's medical training so that he doesn't have to work at that escort bureau. You've been awfully generous to him, Jed!"

Jed dropped his hat and picked it up. What would Robin say when she heard that he could no longer finance Cary? Well, he wouldn't tell her. He'd leave that to Cary Darn John Godine, anyway!

"JED," Robin asked, "did you come here to say anything in particular to me, or did you come just for so? When I found out you knew my mother I started asking you so many questions. I didn't give you a chance to tell me why you came."

"Well," Jed said slowly, "I just wanted to tell you that Cary's a grand boy and—"

"Don't I know!" Robin said proudly.

"And that he loves you a great deal," Jed went on. "I just wanted to ask you always to remember that—and never to do anything to hurt him."

"Why, Jed!" exclaimed Robin reproachfully. "Why should I do anything to hurt him? I love him!"

"I mean," Jed hastened to explain, "that I know there may be opposition to your marrying him and—"

"You mean my father?" Robin asked quickly. "Oh, but I've talked to Daddy about it. He did protest a little but I'm sure that, after he's seen Cary, everything is going to be all right."

Poor child, thought Jed. Little does she know!

"Well, anyway," he said, "you guard Cary's love—it's precious. Don't let any one influence you!"

"Of course not! I have no intention of letting any one influence me!"

Jed nodded, and rose to go. A few minutes later, as Robin watched him amble down the walk, his words were still in her mind—"

"Guard Cary's love—it's precious. Oh, she would guard it, she told herself fiercely. But what had made Jed say that."

UNITED AUTOMOBILE WORKERS OPEN ANNUAL MEETING, CHANGE NAME

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—The United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) changed its name today to the International Union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America (UAW-CIO) in a move to highlight the scope of its membership.

The change in name was adopted by the union's international convention in line with a recommendation by R. J. Thomas, international president, who urged greater recognition of members employed in the aircraft industry.

The constitution committee selected the name. Its partial report opened what is expected to be one of the bitterest convention sessions in UAW history, with debate scheduled on personalities and communism charges involved in the recent strike at the North American Aviation Corporation plant at Inglewood, Calif.

FILM MOGULS MAY BE CALLED IN INVESTIGATION OF PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Chairman D. Worth Clark, D. Ida., said today he would propose that Will Hays, film industry overseer, and executives of major moving picture companies be called before his senate interstate commerce subcommittee considering proposals to investigate charges of movie and radio propaganda.

Clark summoned his subcommittee to a meeting today to discuss hearings on a resolution by Sens. Bennett C. Clark, D. Mo., and Gerald P. Nye, R. N. D., to authorize a formal senate inquiry.

Maru to take Nipponese nationals home.

The problem of returning Americans from Tokyo arose when the sailings of all Japanese vessels were canceled last weekend. Many Americans, who had booked passage and disposed of their interests in the Orient because their funds had been frozen, were left stranded.

COMMUNISTS REPORT BASIS FOR FRUITFUL CO-OPERATION

MOSCOW, (UP)—Pravda, organ of the communist party, said today that the groundwork has been laid for fruitful cooperation between the United States and Russia in the task of mutual national defense and destruction of the enemy which threatens "the security and liberty of all nations."

"The Soviet people," Pravda said, "have greeted with unquestioned satisfaction the establishment of a groundwork for fruitful collaboration between the Soviet Union and the United States, based on a community of interests and answering the needs of the national defense of both countries."

Today's Sport Parade

NEW YORK, (UP)—A quick survey showed today that there are three places inside the boundary of continental United States which have not been mentioned as possible sites for the forthcoming fight between Joe Louis and Lou Nova:

1. The Grand Canyon.
2. Selby, Mont.
3. A raft in the middle of the Great Salt Lake.

And that means, fellow citizens, that the build-up really has started for what may turn out to be a million dollar gate next month. The first step in getting the ballyhoo under way for a heavyweight championship fight to set the country speculating on where the Brown Bomber will do this bombing.

It's a two way proposition. Many towns cannot resist the temptation to cut themselves a slice of the publicity by putting in a bid for the fight. Eliminating all the podunks that are out for a piece of pie and know they haven't a chance to get the fight. Promoter Mike Jacobs has four bona fide propositions under consideration.

The automobile industry in Detroit has offered to underwrite $200,000 worth of tickets and points out that there is plenty of money in that city because of the national defense boom.

A group of sportsmen in Boston have offered a $250,000 guarantee.

Chicago is trying to get the fight merely by pointing out that the city always supports a heavyweight championship bout.

New York is always in the running for a heavyweight title bout because of the immense population from which a promoter can draw.

The agitation over the site will last for about another week or 10 days and then the ballyhoo will veer off on another angle. In fact, some of that has started already.

Louis announced in the midst of the other day that he was getting tired of playing golf and putting his horses through their paces in shows. He said he was "itchin' for some action," meaning he wanted to get back to his trade of thumping people on the noggin until they dropped. That tends to abolish the idea that Louis is ring weary and getting ready to retire; it paints him as a hungry, thirsty tiger, rarin' for the kill.

Next week Nova will emerge from the Maine woods, and leave it to him to come up with something that will help the ballyhoo. It probably will be recalled that Gene Tunney built himself into a title shot against Jack Dempsey by retiring to the woods and chopping trees. In addition, Nova probably will have some variation on his "cosmic punch"—a mysterious blow that has been explained to your agent three times and still eludes him. On the surface, it looks like a short right to the jaw, but Nova insists it is the weapon that will destroy Louis.

The Louis-Nova gate will be helped by the fact that the impression seems to be loose around the country that the Brown Bomber is about to be taken. Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of persons will want to attend so, when they are graybeards they can gather the grandchildren around them and say: "Now the night Louis got licked. . . ."

MUSSOLINI'S SON, 2 OTHERS KILLED, FIVE HURT IN CRASH OF BOMBER

ROME, (UP)—Bruno Mussolini, 23-year-old son of Il Duce, today met a "glorious death" in the crash of a new type of airplane near Pisa.

Il Duce flew at once to Pisa. He visited Santa Chiara Hospital where his son's body was and then inspected the scene of the crash.

A communique said that two other officers died with young Mussolini in the crash of a four motored bomber and that five other persons were injured. The men who died with Il Duce's son were Lieut. Pilot Francesco Vitalini and Motorist Angelo Trezzini.

Approximately 350,000 boys in the United States are working as newspaper boys. The money they earn helps them pay their way through school, often helps them support their families and is used otherwise in carrying on many worthwhile activities.

But the newspaper boy gains much more than his mere earnings. To learn all the benefits the newspaper boy receives, he was, figuratively speaking, put under a microscope. This gigantic task was recently completed by Dr. H. B. McDaniels of Columbia University. He "combined" 350,000 newspaper boys into one and studied him from every angle.

Interesting indeed are some of his findings:

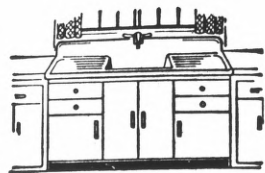

"Newspaper boy activities, when properly organized, provide training in certain general principles and skills which are applicable to the WHOLE FIELD of business."

"The part-time work of a newspaper boy contributes to the process which enables the boy to prepare for his chosen work, enter and make satisfying progress in it."

Vital to almost every American boy is the need for the training afforded newspaper boys by this and other newspapers. Far better schooled and equipped to face the future is the newspaper boy.

The Japanese were said to be pouring steady reinforcements into Manchukuo and Korea. The official Russian Tass news agency, however, issued a sharp denial that any clashes have occurred between Russian and Japanese troops along the Siberian frontier.

The Royal Air Force extended its air offensive against Germany, attacking Mannheim, Frankfurt and Karlsruhe and the French Channel coast during the night.

Rome admitted that British airplanes had again attacked Augusta and Catania on the island of Sicily. Both points are believed to be air base sites. British action around Tobruk also was reported.

GRANGE NOTES

Three Forks

The meeting of Three Forks Grange on August 2 was well attended. Four new members were obligated to the first and second degrees, and will be ready to join with others in receiving the third and fourth degrees at the next session on August 16 when the Gold Trail degree team will be present to put on the initiatory work. We invite other Grangers to visit us and have their candidates initiated by this fine team.

Plans were discussed for the booth for the county fair.

This Grange voted to donate $5.00 to the fund for the U. S. O. Also we will stage a special community drive for old aluminum to be collected and brought to the next meeting and then added to the pile at the county seat.

4 JUVENILES HELD FOR CAR THEFT, BURGLARY OF GAS STATIONS

County juvenile authorities have charge of four boys, two nine years old, one twelve and another fourteen, who were taken into custody early Wednesday morning by City Officer Orville Reimoehl.

It appears that about noon Tuesday the boys took a car belonging to Hale Day from the place where it was parked near the Blair Brothers lumber yard. When Day went to get his car at five o'clock, it was gone and he reported the circumstance to police.

About two o'clock Wednesday morning, Reimoehl noted that the car had been returned and investigation led him to take the boys in.

Bob France is recovering from a badly sprained leg, and can get about on crutches now.

Plans are progressing nicely for the next big dance to be held on August 29 with Vic Parker's orchestra. Special supper and a good time is certain.
